• Tap to continue •

This mountain path is steep and uneven. Do you need my help?

• Tap to continue •

Do I look fragile to you?

· Tap to continue ·

You've never walked on land before even though your tail can transform into a pair of legs.

· Tap to continue ·

Yet you've been walking normally this entire time... When did you learn to walk on two legs?
• Tap to continue •

Sea Gods drink a magical potion that transforms their tail into legs when they go on land for the first time. Was this not mentioned in the myths you've read?

・Tap to continue・

If they don't learn how to walk and fail to return to the sea before sunset, they turn into bubbles and disappear into the water.

• Tap to continue •

...Did you make that up?

· Tap to continue ·

Would you like to take a guess?

· Tap to continue ·

Rafayel, what are your thoughts on this leather cloak?

· Tap to continue ·

It could suffocate a shark.

・Tap to continue・

And this linen shirt?

• Tap to continue •

Rough enough to scrape my scales... Cease this at once. Stop trying to dress me up!

・Tap to continue・

I'm worried that you'll get cold. You barely wear garments as it is.

· Tap to continue ·

Why don't you look around? If you find any clothes you like, I'll buy them for you.

· Tap to continue ·

No need. Humans have a strange habit of wrapping themselves in what basically amounts to fishing nets. I shan't partake in that.

・Tap to continue・

Give me your hand if you're concerned about me freezing to death. Your warmth is all I need.

· Tap to continue ·

Why are those humans hammering away at that?

・Tap to continue・

It's a small bell tower. If I recall correctly... I commissioned it for a certain year's Sea's Gratus Festival. I oversaw its construction myself.

・Tap to continue・

Temples, bell towers... You've built many facilities in my name.

· Tap to continue ·

Constructing a few for my groom is reasonable, no? Wait, what are you doing?

· Tap to continue ·

The structures my bride built for me are damaged. I shall help with the repairs.

• Tap to continue •

The glass from this stained window is broken. Come. I need your aid.

・Tap to continue・

Goal Achieved

In the past, the Sea God had a burly physique and a beard. I requested the craftsman to make some changes. Does the real Sea God have any objections?

· Tap to continue ·

Goal Achieved

Not at all. The changes look good.

· Tap to continue ·

Goal Achieved

Now I understand how you imagined me before we met.

・Tap to continue・

Do you see that seagull? Would you say it resembles the one you sent to the tower? The one that brought me seashells, I mean.

• Tap to continue •

Yes. However, that seagull complained about you hurting its ears because you talked too much. It flew to distant waters to recover.

・Tap to continue・

I wasn't that talkative... I was bored to death in the tower. I couldn't help myself.

· Tap to continue ·

Rafayel, you were sealed away for so long. It must've been harder for you than it was for me, yes?

• Tap to continue •

Correct.

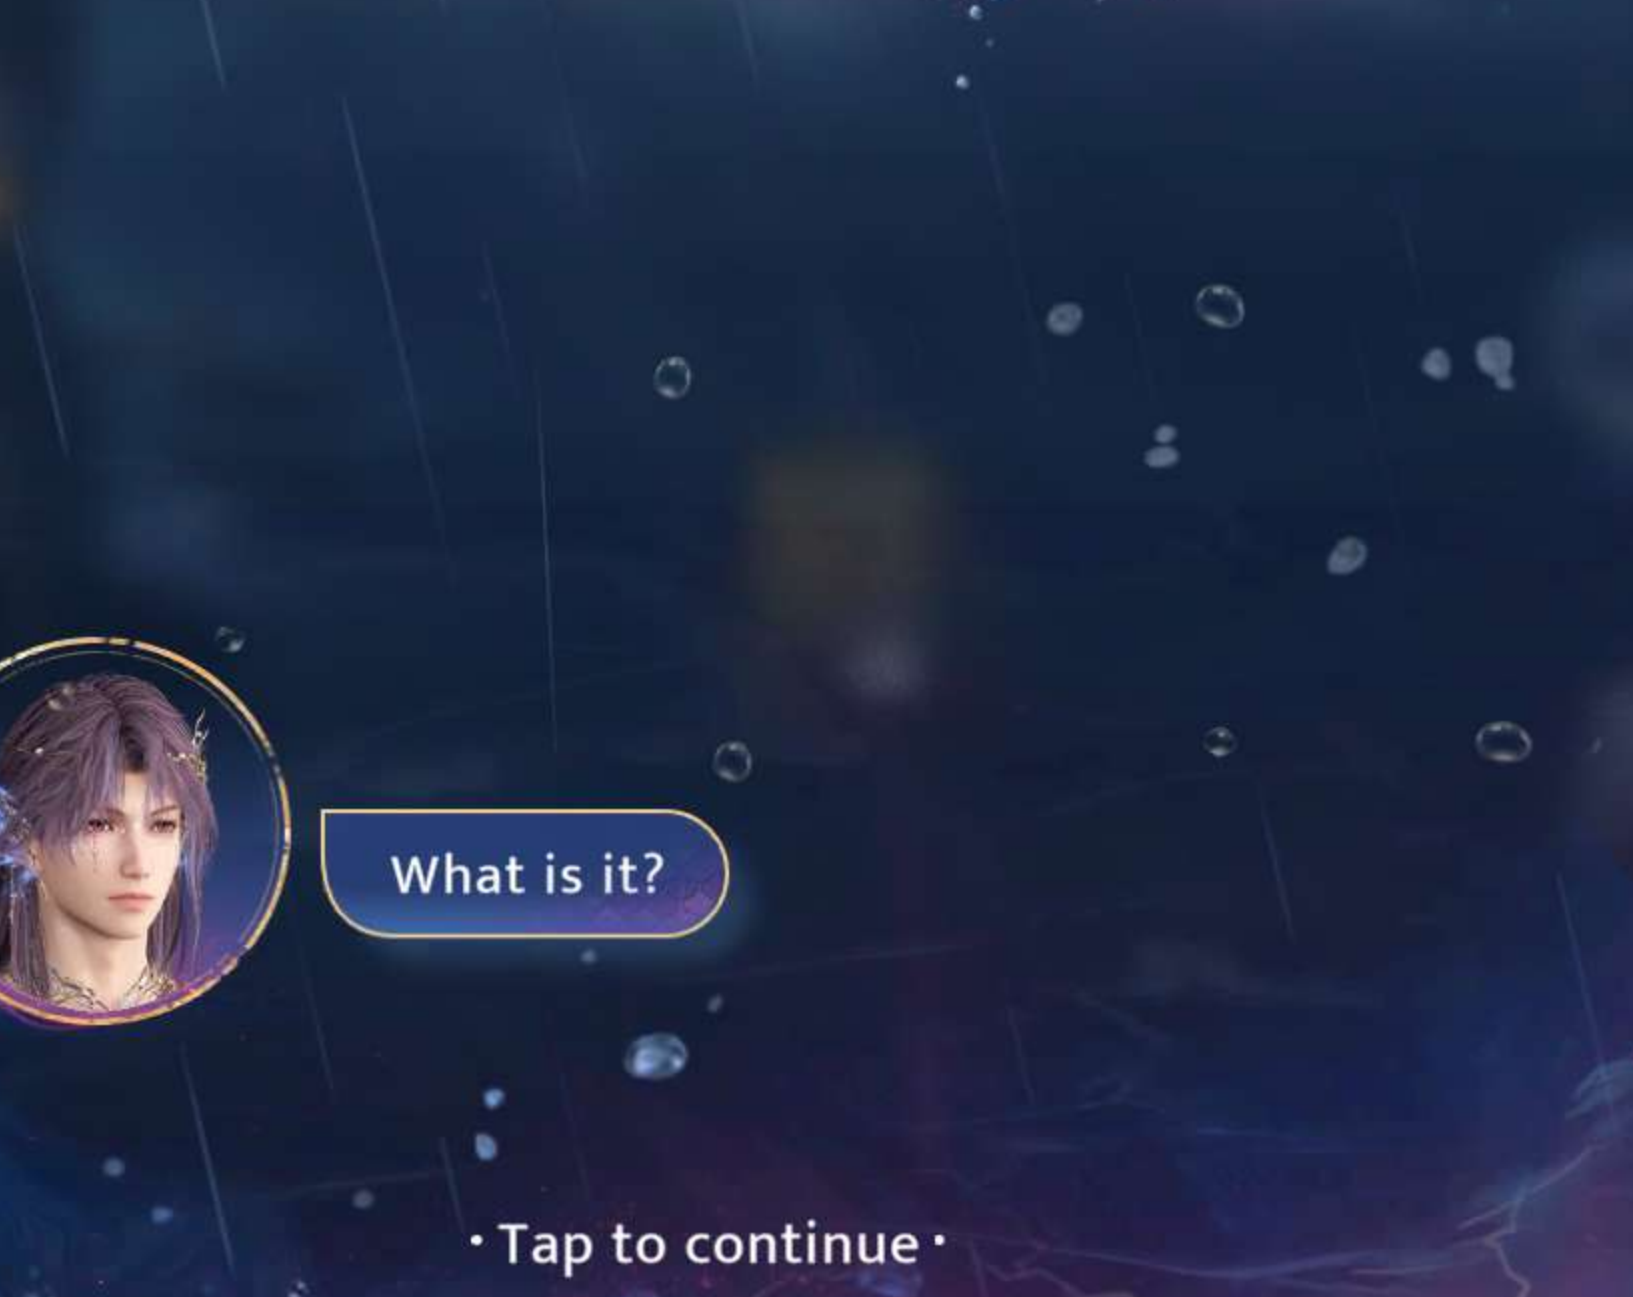
・Tap to continue・

And being able to hear your voice, even when you criticized me, was more interesting than the dreary depths of the ocean.

・Tap to continue・

A lot of Emberthistles are in full bloom over there.

· Tap to continue ·



What is it?

• Tap to continue •

It's an incredibly hardy flower. Scatter its seeds anywhere, and you'll end up with a field of them.

・Tap to continue・

It's impossible for that to happen in the ocean, especially the Deep Sea. Even animals struggle to survive there.

· Tap to continue ·

How will we know if we don't try? Perhaps creatures on land could also thrive in the sea.

· Tap to continue ·

Here. These are its fruits.

· Tap to continue ·

I'm unsure if you're setting up the plant for failure or me for disappointment. But...

・Tap to continue・

All right. I'd like to see the Deep Sea covered in flowers as well.

· Tap to continue ·

What an awful downpour...
Fortunately, we found a cave to take shelter in.

· Tap to continue ·

Don't stand near the cave's entrance with the wind and rain. Come. Help me pick out a couple of stones.

• Tap to continue •

...When did you carve this? It's beautiful.

· Tap to continue ·

I did it on a whim. The stone is too brittle for any complex patterns.

・Tap to continue・

I want to carve something as well.
Will you teach me?

· Tap to continue ·

I need to see how steady your hands are first.

・Tap to continue・

See this small fish? Try to draw it using one continuous line.
· Tap to continue ·

Goal Achieved

What do you think? Have I passed the Sea God's trial?

• Tap to continue •

Goal Achieved

Your skill level... I'd say you're better than approximately half of Lemurians.

・Tap to continue・

Goal Achieved

That's harsh! Are all Lemurians master artists?

• Tap to continue •

Crisis Strikes

Strange monsters have overrun the coast on the outskirts. Perfect. Time to drown them in a deadly tidal wave.

Enter Battle

These aren't even real waves. Boring.

Rafayel, look what I found in the boat!

· Tap to continue ·

A mirror? I'm impressed you managed to find another "treasure."

・Tap to continue・

Wait, there's a pattern on it.

· Tap to continue ·

20

Start

It's damaged. We need to put some effort into discovering what it is.

Goal Achieved

The Sea God on the mirror looks like you. Did you meet the people on this ship?

・Tap to continue・

Goal Achieved

I don't recall matters such as those. However, I can tell you that the craftsman who made this mirror was kind.

・Tap to continue・

Goal Achieved

He made a carving of my bride because he was worried I would be lonely.

・Tap to continue・

Are you all right?

• Tap to continue •

Yes, but the ocean's current carried me here after the battle... This cave feels almost endless. Where are we?

・Tap to continue・

...

・Tap to continue・

Ah. We've disturbed a rather unfriendly giant.

• Tap to continue •

...Don't tell me we have another grand battle on our hands.

・Tap to continue・

We'll be polite. We don't need to challenge him when we've already trespassed into his home.

· Tap to continue ·

20

Start

Let's get out of here before he loses his temper.

Goal Achieved

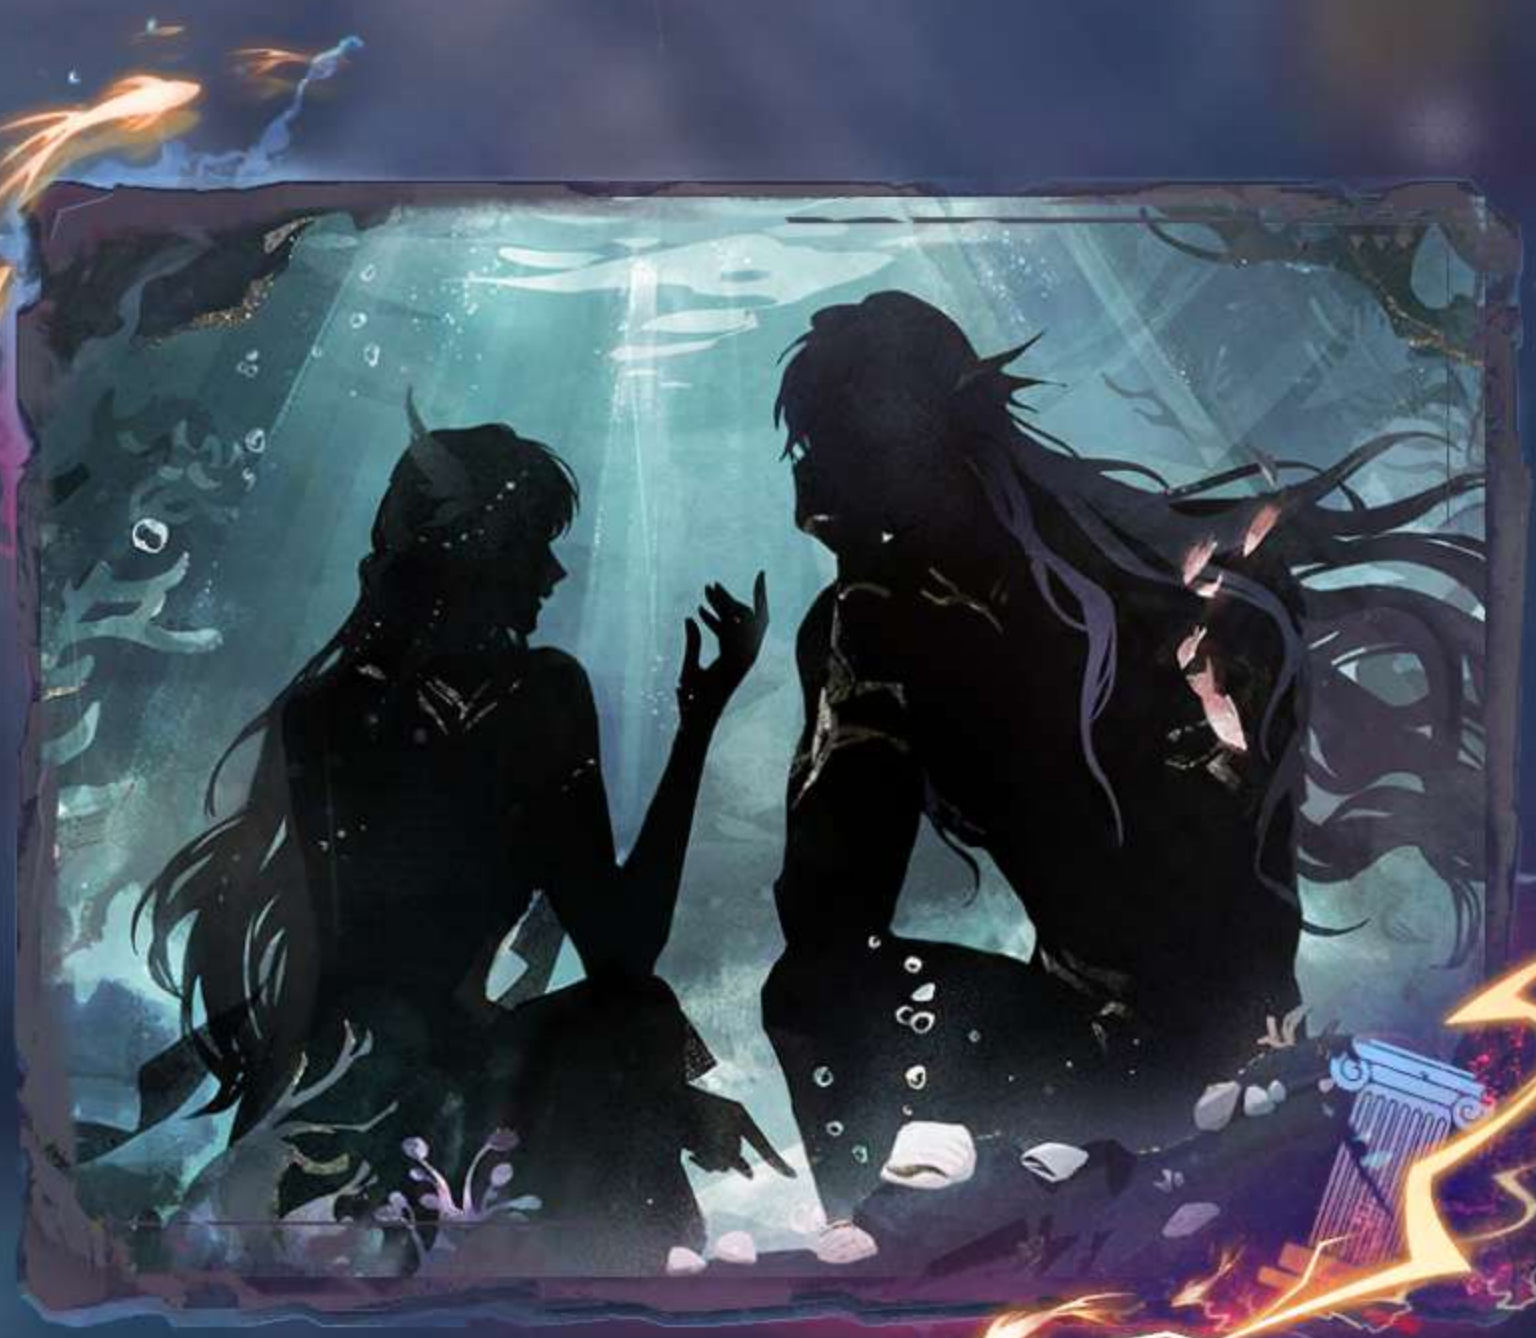
Phew... We finally shook off that giant octopus.

・Tap to continue・

Goal Achieved

Indeed. So, could this little octopus stop clinging to me?

・Tap to continue・



Why are there so many pearl oysters around this reef?

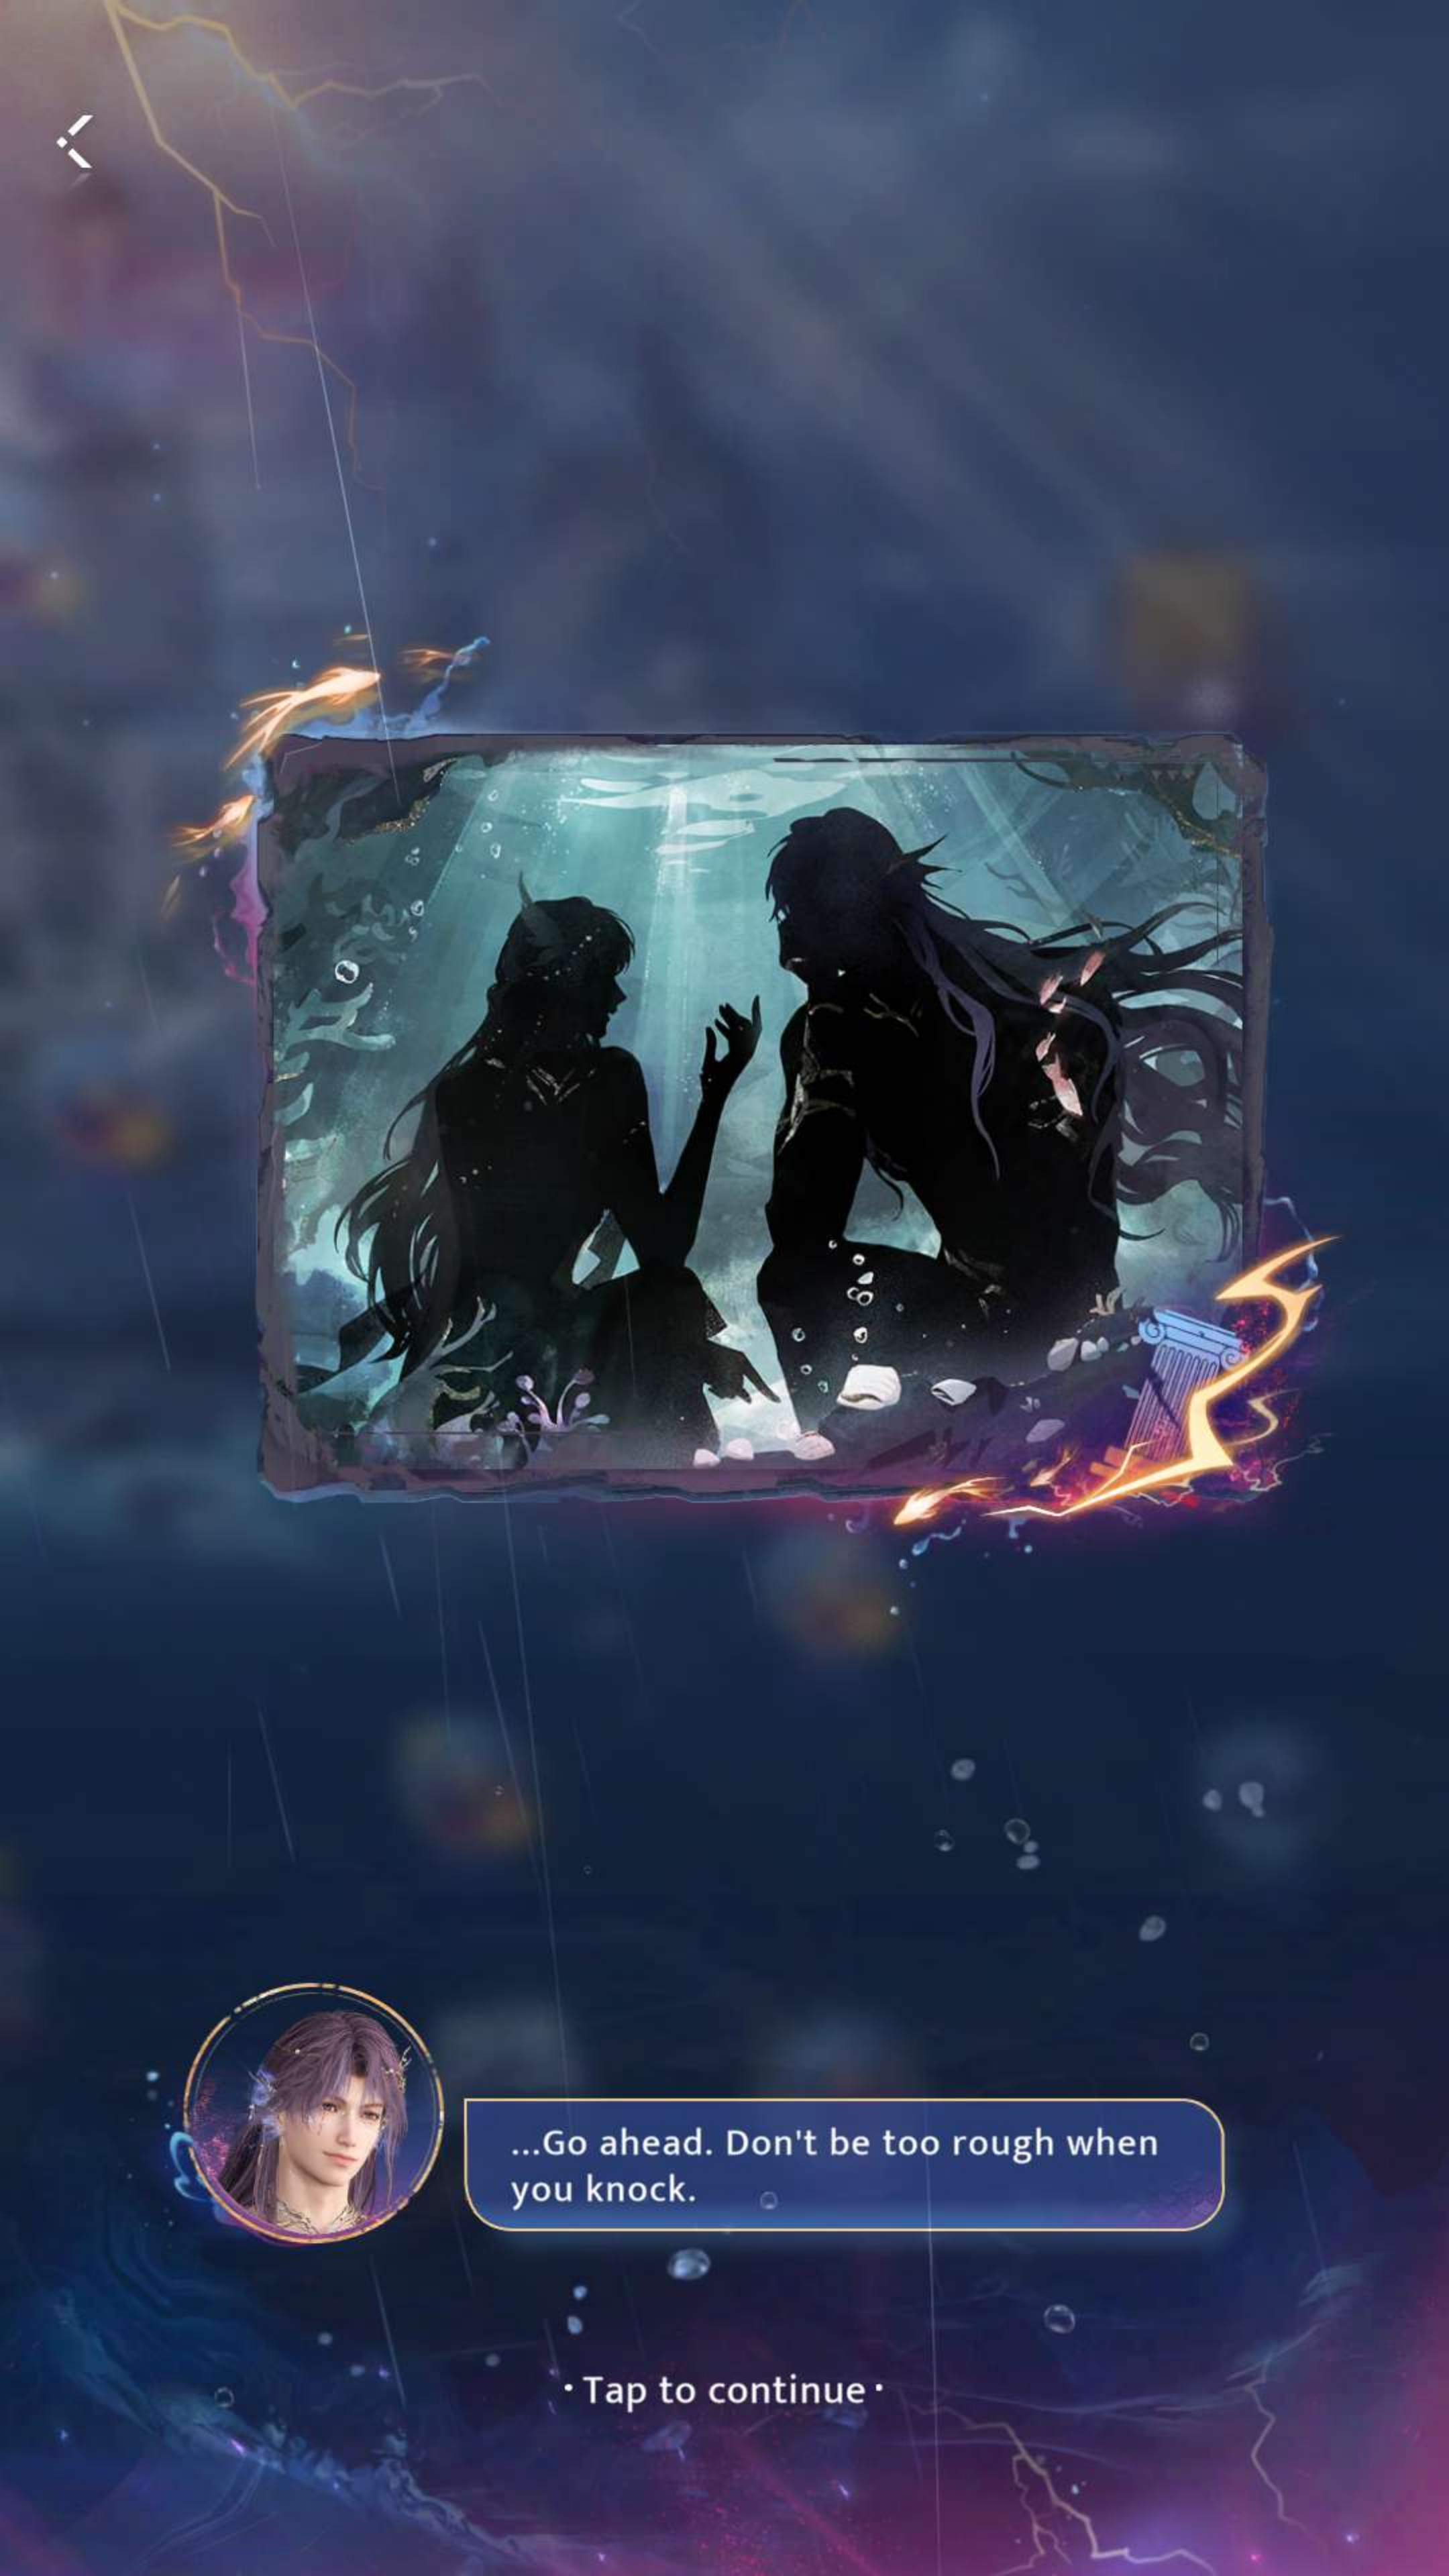
• Tap to continue •

What do you think? Should we knock on their "doors" one at a time?

· Tap to continue ·

"Excuse me, are you the pearl the Tome of the Sea God spoke of when it said to 'search for pearls in The Deep'"?

· Tap to continue ·



...Go ahead. Don't be too rough when you knock.
• Tap to continue •

I'm afraid they might ask their shellfish friends to gather outside your window. And there will be a horde of them with makeshift percussion instruments.

・Tap to continue・

I've always wondered how I could breathe underwater ever since I was a child. Is it because I'm the Sea God's bride?

• Tap to continue •

It's said that a kiss from a Lemurian grants one the ability to breathe underwater.

・Tap to continue・

In any case, you're bound to me. Breathing underwater is par for the course.

・Tap to continue・

But this is the first time I've swum to a place this deep... Perhaps I should kiss you again to ensure I won't drown.

・Tap to continue・

If you don't mind the fish, shrimp, jellyfish, and coral watching us...

· Tap to continue ·

I certainly won't refuse you.

・Tap to continue・

What a beautiful "underwater garden."

• Tap to continue •

Corals and sea anemones. This place is an ideal home for them.

・Tap to continue・

But we can only admire them from a distance. Those sea anemones are venomous.

・Tap to continue・

I know. Yet the manner in which they sway... They must feel soft to the touch.

• Tap to continue •

· Tap to continue ·

Here.

· Tap to continue ·

Hmm? Wait, didn't you just say these were poisonous?

· Tap to continue ·

I did. I also talked to it. It reluctantly agreed to let you hold it.

• Tap to continue •

Some stone tablets have been preserved. These engravings... remind me of the Lemurian language.

・Tap to continue・

Even though they're fragments, they might be a mysterious record for something... Or a strange incantation, perhaps?

·Tap to continue·

"From the first rainfall's descent to water droplets forming an ocean, I have spent every moment loving you."

・Tap to continue・

"My apologies, Sir Glenguna. I was unable to complete the assignment you gave me because it's very, very, very difficult..."

・Tap to continue・

"I shall tell Feri that I like her scales during the Sea God's Ceremony tomorrow."

・Tap to continue・

Ahem... Maybe we shouldn't speak about the private thoughts of your people from thousands of years ago.

· Tap to continue ·

Why? If anything, you should leave a few words of your own.
• Tap to continue •

Then people can spend half a day speculating about it thousands of years from now.

・Tap to continue・